

product with proper dispensing until the product is used up.

Abstract of Disclosure

This invention referred to in the body of text in this patent application is known as and referenced as a starting or threading strip. The new art or invention is pointed out as being a strip or tab either of source product materiel or other rigid or semi rigid materiel, that is attached to the correct sheet and corner of said sheet necessary being threaded through the dispensing port of a dispensing apparatus, enabling ease of use for the users of such products as wet wipes, paper towels, or bath tissue, or plastic bags dispensed in a similar manner.